

Armed Man Concert: 15 June 2013

Just wanted to say what a fantastic performance last night at the Priory from both Choir and Orchestra, and what a brilliant conductor, I shouldn't think you can mistake any of his directions ! I take my hat off also to one of the sopranos, whom I only saw looking at her copy in the last song of the piece. The Armed Man is just so moving ,and sadly so relevant in our troubled world.

Best wishes, and I will look out for future performances. If you have a mailing list I would like to be on it please.

Thank you Jan, we enjoyed it too. We are very lucky to have Tim Hooper. His enthusiasm inspires us all and we usually end up giving of our best for him. I will pass on your kind comments to the choir. You will hear about our future concerts from me. Thanks for your support,

Dear Nigel

A quick note to say I thought Saturday's concert was fabulous. I liked the balance before and after the interval with the fun and easy listening Holst contrasting with the Jenkins which is anything but on both counts. What a magnificent piece the Armed Man is; one I could not tire of listening to
